THIRTY-SECOND SUNDAY IN ORDINARY TIME

"Let my prayer come into your presence. Incline your ear to my cry for help, O Lord." (Cf. Psalm 87.3)

Weekly Biblical Reflection

The Gospel today can seem strange. Five bridesmaids are wise because they brought extra oil, yet when the foolish bridesmaids ask them to share, they refuse. Are we not called to give to those in need? Is this not the most important moment of all: the return of Christ, when everyone should be ready to welcome the Bridegroom together?

Jesus is teaching us something important: there are some things that cannot be shared in an instant, at the last moment. This is not so difficult for us to understand. We know that certain things like musical ability, wisdom, or thorough knowledge of a particular subject take time, practice, and dedication to cultivate. They cannot simply be acquired overnight or transferred from one person to another. The same is true in the spiritual life. A deep faith, a life of prayer, wisdom gained through the Scriptures, and a genuine love for God most often do not arise instantaneously. More often than not, these things are cultivated slowly, over the course of a lifetime, through our daily relationship with the Lord. They cannot be transferred to us at the last moment by someone else because the spiritual life is deeply personal; it is the unique journey of each soul as it walks with God over the course of a lifetime.

Jesus asks us a very simple but profound question: "When the Son of Man comes, will he find faith on earth (Luke 18:8)?" Will He find our lamps filled with oil? Will he find faith that has been patiently cultivated over years of prayer, sacrifice, forgiveness, hope, and love? Every prayer, every act of charity, every sacrifice made for the Lord, every time we choose to follow Christ's example: it is oil being poured into our lamp; it is treasure that is being stored up for heaven.

The Bridegroom is coming. We do not know when. But we know what we must do now: keep our lamps filled with oil and keep our light shining brightly before the world.

- Fr. Josh Lobo
